An Open Letter to the Leaders of the Temple Department

Dear Brent Roberts (managing director of the church's Special Projects Department)
Gérald Caussé (presiding bishop of the church)
Kent F. Richards (Executive Director of the Temple Department), Kevin R. Duncan (assistant executive director in the Temple Department), and David A Bednar (head of the Temple and Family History Executive Council),

As a life-long member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and current temple recommend holder, I wanted to contact you regarding a growing concern I have. As you will see, many individuals have added their names to this letter to show that they share these concerns.

Recent actions by the church relating to the building of temples have caused me to wonder whether we are following Jesus' teachings as recorded in Matthew 7:12 (and 3 Nephi 14:12) which reads, "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you: do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets." or his teaching recorded in several places to "love thy neighbor as thyself".

I recognize the temple is held sacred by millions of members around the globe, and am grateful that they have a dedicated space in which to draw closer to God. I also recognize the church's desire to make the temple more geographically accessible for as many members of the church as possible. However, recent actions (detailed below) leave me wondering whether we, as a church, are "looking beyond the mark" (Jacob 4:14).

On May 3, 2024, the church joined the dispute between Wasatch County and a small group of residents to presumably defend its desire to build the Heber Valley temple as-planned, without considering the concerns of residents or local ordinances. I believe residents have made it clear that a temple is welcome, but have asked that it comply with local ordinances, and be built in consideration of the surroundings and dark sky initiatives.

Joining the suit rather than listening to the concerns of residents seems to directly contradict Jesus' teaching that, "And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also." (Matthew 7:40 & 3 Nephi 12:40). When disputes arise and we would like to offer a gift to God, Jesus counseled that we must "Leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift." If we consider temples as a gift or sacrifice to God, should we not leave that gift at the altar, be reconciled to our siblings in the Heber Valley area, and then offer a gift that will help all come closer to God, including residents for whom the current proposal is a cause for concern?

On March 7, 2024, a letter was sent from Melissa MckNeely on behalf of the church, informing some residents of the proposed McKinney Texas temple site informing them a temple would be built. This letter indicates that "Plans call for a two-story temple" and "Please be assured that this project is consistent with city regulations."

My understanding is that the zoning in this area calls for a maximum 35' roof height and that the church asked for an exemption to the 35' height restriction since the temple has a proposed 65' roof peak and 173' steeple. If I were a resident informed that a "two story temple" would be built "consistent with city regulations", I would not anticipate a building with a 65' roof peak and 173' steeple. The way this letter sent to residents provides only vague information and misleads recipients to believe the temple will meet current city regulations makes me extremely uncomfortable and has, very understandably, made residents feel deceived.

In March or April, the Fisco Stake Presidency and Sherman Stake Presidency sent a letter to the members of those stakes at the direction of Jonathan Cannon, the local Area Seventy, asking that members communicate to the Planning Manager, Israel Roberts, that "The height of the steeple [of the temple] is part of our Religious Observance".

I was surprised to read these words since, even as a life-long member, the steeple has never been part of my religious observance. My family and I had the pleasure of attending the Paris, France temple open house before it was dedicated (my family was based in Europe at the time for a work assignment), and we noticed that it does not have a steeple at all. The lack of steeple did not interfere with how close we felt to God in that temple on that day. Nor does the lack of steeple interfere with the religious observance within that temple. Church members worship in at least three other temples (Laie Hawaii, Mesa Arizona, and Cardston Alberta) that do not have steeples, and countless small congregations within the church meet weekly in rented houses, school cafeterias, and other spaces without steeples. I myself attended powerful meetings in such spaces during my two-year mission for the church. To now say that a steeple (and especially the height of the steeple) is part of our religious observance does not seem accurate. Thus, if I lived in this area and was asked to express this sentiment to the planning manager, I would not do so.

The aforementioned letter also tells the members that "A key message [of the communication to planning manager, Israel Roberts] needs to be on the importance of the temple and how it allows you to worship as you choose, to practice your faith, and that the building itself is a symbol of your faith (including the steeple if you feel to be specific in that regard)."

This statement brought back to my mind the words of Gordon B. Hinckley (who was the president of the church during my most formative years) when he was answering questions following the rededication of the Mesa, Arizona temple which, ironically and as mentioned above, does not include a steeple. President Hinckley relayed the exchange as follows: "A protestant minister...asked: "If you do not use the cross, what is the symbol of your religion?" I replied that the lives of our people must become the most meaningful expression of our faith and, in fact, therefore, the symbol of our worship."

The symbol of our faith cannot be a steeple of a certain height forced upon a community. The symbol of our faith must be the way we follow Jesus' counsel to "love your neighbor as yourself" (Mark 12:31).

On May 14, 2024, an attorney representing the church in a Las Vegas Planning Commission Meeting asserted that, "The size of the building including its tall walls are necessary symbols of faith” as well as “It is important to the religious services that temples have very high walls and ceilings...Also, the temple’s large, beautiful, and grand exterior symbolizes the hope, faith, and peace and strength provided by God”.

I can’t help but think about where the first endowments were administered 180 years ago, on the third floor of the red brick store. There was nothing “large, beautiful, and grand” about the exterior or interior of that building. Were those ordinances any less valid because of the ordinary, dim, and small nature of the building?

Another room that comes to mind is that upper room where Jesus administered the last supper to his disciples. Surely there was nothing “large, beautiful, and grand” about that room either. And yet, the attorney stated in that same meeting that “For members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, temples are literally houses of the Lord Jesus Christ, designed to honor and symbolize His life, mission, and teachings.” If this is the case, would the temple not better honor and symbolize Jesus’ life, mission, and teachings if we treated the residents of these cities where the church would like to build temples with love, respect, and forthrightness.

This letter is sent out of sincere concern and love for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. I fear that current actions (as well as others relating to these and other temples) do not align with President Russell M. Nelson’s counsel that,

“One of the best ways we can honor the Savior is to become a peacemaker. If you are serious about helping to gather Israel and about building relationships that will last throughout the eternities, now is the time to lay aside bitterness. Now is the time to cease insisting that it is your way or no way....Let us show that there is a peaceful, respectful way to resolve complex issues and an enlightened way to work out disagreements.”

The actions of the church and parties acting on the church’s behalf are having a devastating impact on the relationship members within the impacted communities have with their friends, neighbors, and the community. Rather than being interested in and open to the message our church and its members would like to share, people are on guard, cautious, and even suspicious. Rather than the temple being seen as a light on a hill sharing the good news of the gospel, it is seen as something forced upon a community against their will and despite their misgivings, concerns, or even local laws and regulations. Individuals feel deceived rather than uplifted; forced rather than loved; and ignored rather than included.

It is difficult for individual members to follow President Nelson’s counsel to be peacemakers when the church is taking such contentious actions and even asking members locally to participate.

Some church members receiving this instruction feel they are left to choose between following the counsel of their priesthood leader, or following their understanding of the teachings of Jesus of Nazareth. Following their priesthood leader would mean ignoring concerns of residents as well as the laws of the land (which “We believe in...obeying, honoring, and sustaining”, Article of Faith 12). It would also mean misrepresenting certain aspects of our temples, faith, and worship, making some feel they cannot answer the temple recommend question of “Do you strive to be honest in all that you do?” in the affirmative. But ignoring these requests, or speaking out against them, means risking losing access to the temple at all, since one of the temple recommend questions is, “Do you sustain the other General Authorities and local leaders of the Church?” Members of the church should not be put in this position.

Our hope is that temples globally, and specifically in the communities of McKinney Texas, Lone Mountain Nevada, Heber Valley Utah, Bakersfield California, and Cody Wyoming, can and will be seen as representing the truth that “all are alike unto God” (2 Nephi 26:33). This is not currently how the temple is seen. If we want to change this, I believe one critical step is that we must be more Christlike in the way we plan, propose, and integrate temples into communities around the world.

Sincerely,

Jeff Andersen - Gainesville Stake, Virginia
